FIFA World Cup

Lincoln Park, River North, North Center and lots more

Wanna watch Team USA play England on its quest to win the World Cup? Set your alarm. The games, hosted in South Africa through July 11, start at 6:30 a.m., 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. The good news is that bars across the city are opening early just for the occasion. Better news is this weekend's USA kickoff game starts at 1:30 p.m. CST on Saturday. Check the World Cup bars guide at metromix.com for more drinks deals and viewing parties.

»» On Saturday, start the day at the newest location of Small Bar (1415 W. Fullerton Ave.), opening early on all game days. Then head to Bull & Bear (431 N. Wells St.) by 1:30 p.m. for a viewing party and to meet Chicago Fire players Andrew Dykstra and Kwame Watson-Siriboe. Beer deals abound across the city, from $4 Carlsberg pints at soccer bar the Globe (1934 W. Irving Park Rd.) to $7 drafts of Goose Island Matilda and Sofie at English (444 N. La Salle St.). When: 6 a.m. (Small Bar, the Globe.), 9 a.m. (English), 1:30 p.m. viewing party Saturday (Bull & Bear)

Wicker Park

Rock out to beats provided by members of the Donnas and Elevator Fight's Zoe Kravitz (daughter of Lenny Kravitz and Lisa Bonet) at Venus Zine's second edition of After Hours, a rockers-as-DJs party. It all goes down at Debonair Social Club (1575 N. Milwaukee Ave.); expect sets by featured performers after the Donnas and Elevator Fight wrap their concert with the Vanguard and the Click Clack Boom at Double Door (9 p.m. Sunday; $15), part of the Autism Speaks Rock 'n' Royalty Tour. $5 cover benefits Autism Speaks; donations also will be accepted.

When: 10 p.m. Sunday

FETE Live tunes, loads of ribs

Andersonville, North Center

The fest scene is jam-packed this weekend, from Blues Fest in Grant Park (Friday-Sunday, free) to Humboldt Park Art Fair (Saturday; $5 suggested). Two of the biggies are the 45th annual Andersonville Midsommarfest (Foster Avenue and Clark Street, $5 suggested) and Ribfest Chicago (Lincoln Avenue and Irving Park Road; $5 suggested). Head to the former fest for three stages of live music, loads of shopping and food, beer and sangria vendors. The latter is self-explanatory: thousands of pounds of barbecue from 15 rib vendors.

When: 11 a.m.-10 p.m. Saturday-Sunday (Midsommarfest), noon-10 p.m. Saturday-Sunday (Ribfest)

DRINK Two Brothers' Hop Juice

Warrenville, Ill.

Daytrip! Get out of dodge for an afternoon and point your compass, er, GPS west toward Hop Juice Fest at Two Brothers Brewery (30W315 Calumet Ave. Warrenville, 630-393-4800), the second annual release party for the suburban brewery's hop-tastic double IPA. Get the first tastes of the beer and purchase bottles to take home. Guest taps, food and merch vendors also available. After just one year, the event is gaining momentum; we suggest arriving early. More info: juiceisloose.wordpress.com. Free.

When: Noon-11 p.m. Saturday

Cancer is Colorblind Neighborhood Crawl

Start: The Kerryman, 661 N. Clark St. 312-335-812

Work your way through six River North and Wicker Park bars in support of Children's Memorial Hospital and Sinai Health System. 2-7 p.m. Saturday. $40.

Allies in news

We've got a lot in common with our English friends. Political scandals. An obsession with celebrity. Heck, even the national language. This week's news out of the jolly old country reminded us just how much we have in common—or not. Consider our comparisons.

Fashion

England: A strapless black gown worn by Lady Diana Spencer sold at a London auction for $276,500. Di wore the dress to one of her first official engagements in 1981. "I think from that minute on, Diana became a fashion icon that the press couldn't wait to see what she would be wearing next," said Elizabeth Emanuel, who designed the dress with her then-husband.

USA: America's answer to the glamorous Lady Di she is not, but Jenni "J-Woww" Farley of MTV's "Jersey Shore" made some fashion waves at Sunday's MTV Movie Awards when she modeled her new clothing line, Filthy Couture. Remarked fellow cast member Nicole "Snooki" Polizzi, according to people.com: "Your boobs look phenomenal tonight."

History

>> England: Archaeologists announced Monday that dozens of headless skeletons excavated from a northern England building site appear to be the remains of Roman gladiators. And how's this for gladiator cred: One of the skeletons had bites from a lion, tiger, bear or other large animal, experts said.

>> USA: A fourth-grade teacher in Peabody, Mass., discovered a document buried in a pile of outdated textbooks that dates to the U.S. Colonial era. According to The Associated Press, the doc is dated April 1792 and appears to be about the payment of a debt. Yep, sounds like an American.

Pop music

>> England: Chris Brown was forced to postpone his British tour Tuesday after the UK denied the singer entry because of his past criminal record.

>> USA: Beating up Rihanna didn't endear Brown to Americans either.

BLACKHAWKS VICTORY PARADE

GLORY

RedEye

Now that's a party!

A fist-pumping, flag-waving crowd estimated by the mayor's office at 2 million squeezed into the Loop on a muggy Friday for a ticker-tape victory parade, two days after the Blackhawks claimed the franchise's first Stanley Cup title since 1961.

Hanging from streetlights and standing atop trash cans, crammed onto every inch of sidewalk to see the NHL champions ride through downtown Chicago on double-decker buses, fans screamed in unison, "Let's go, Hawks!"

When the parade reached its destination at Michigan Avenue and Wacker Drive, the players took the stage and showed no quit after two days of celebrating through the city's bars and restaurants since arriving on a flight back from Philadelphia in the wee hours Thursday.

Kris Versteeg performed a celebratory rap, Jonathan Toews held the glistening Stanley Cup aloft, and Patrick Kane cracked a couple of jokes about his brushes with scandal over the past year.

"I'll tell you one thing," Kane told the crowd. "I'll try to keep my shirt on all summer. For all the cabdrivers out there, I love you."

The fans closest to the stage at the end of the parade had been there for at least six hours, forgoing water and bathroom breaks for a chance to be close to the Stanley Cup.

"It means everything to me," Rodolfo Frias said. "History is being made, and I've got a front-row seat to it."

An enormous cheer went up when a toothless Duncan Keith was projected on giant screens.

A CALL FROM WASHINGTON

President Obama called Blackhawks coach Joe Quenneville on Friday to congratulate him and the team, saying he was proud of them as a Chicagoan.

"The pair joked that the president would now have bragging rights over Vice President [Joe] Biden, a Philadelphia Flyers fan," the White House said. "He reiterated that the Blackhawks' victory was great for the city of Chicago and said he looked forward to welcoming the team at the White House."

Obama, known to be a hoops fan above all, invited the Bulls to the White House early in his term. But the Blackhawks will be the first Chicago franchise to come with some championship hardware. TRIBUNE

"You don't need teeth to drink champagne," Donna O'Malley yelled.

Ryan Millinowisch, 19, called in to work to say he had a fever. As he stood in the parade aftermath, he said he didn't care that he had to tell a little white lie.

"I have no regrets," said the teenager, who works at his local park district. "This is more than I expected it to be. It was awesome."

The pinnacle of Millinowisch's celebration was seeing the Stanley Cup.

"I don't even know how to explain it. It's unreal," Millinowisch said before he took off down the street screaming, "Go Hawks!"

pop 'Blood' thirsty

By Curt Wagner

REDEYE

I have two words for Alan Ball and his "True Blood" writing team: Bite me.

And I mean that in the most positive way. Once Season 3 sinks its fangs in, you won't want it to let go.

I don't want to reveal too much because the first three episodes are so intricately plotted, almost any small reveal is a spoiler. Just be ready for twists, turns and sexy werewolves.

"Pack of Wolves" picks up right where Season 2 left off, and we'll learn what happened to Bill (Stephen Moyer) before it has ended. One great thing about Ball and his writers is they almost never let a plot point drag on too long. The action in the tightly written, densely packed first three episodes addresses all those cliffhangers and spins them into new stories.

Tara (Rutina Wesley) goes so batty with grief that Lafayette (Nelsan Ellis)

TV
True Blood
8 p.m. Sunday, HBO

has to take her in. Baby vamp Jessica (Deborah Ann Woll) seeks counsel from Pam (Kristin Bauer), who offers some sage advice concerning a chainsaw. After a delicious encounter with Bill, shifter Sam (Sam Trammell) learns you should be careful what you wish for as he meets his trashy birth parents and brother. Desperate to find Bill, Sookie (Anna Paquin) seeks out Eric (Alexander Skarsgard), who hooks her up with the smoking-hot werewolf Alcide (Joe Manganiello). Several fascinating new characters are introduced, including Russell Edgington, the Vampire King of Mississippi (Chicago theater vet Denis O'Hare), and his lover, Talbot (Theo Alexander); wolfman Cooter (Grant Bowler); Lafayette's mother's nurse, Jesus Velasquez (Kevin Alejandro); and vampire Franklin Mott (James Frain).

For those of you who tune in more for the sucking of faces than of necks, don't expect the orgies of last season. But believe me, you'll see plenty of skin.

James Frain

LOVE IT

DVD AND BLU-RAY Shutter Island

Available now

Set in 1954, "Shutter Island" stars Leonardo

DiCaprio as U.S. Marshal Teddy Daniels who, along with his new partner, Chuck Aule (Mark Ruffalo), is sent to investigate a case at an insane asylum located on an island in the Atlantic near Boston. It concerns a woman prisoner who had murdered her three children. She was locked in a secure cell but mysteriously has disappeared. The situation really gets unnerving when a storm cuts off connections with the mainland and more "prisoners" escape. DOUG NYE, MCT

LIKE IT

TV Stonehenge Apocalypse

8 p.m. Saturday, Syfy

It's the end of the world as we know it, and I feel ... meh. Fringe scientist Jacob ("Supernatural's" Misha Collins) can stop the electromagnetic forces of Stonehenge from destroying Earth, if only someone will listen to him. Throw in a nutty cult leader (Hill Harper, "CSI: NY") and you have the makings of a wacky good time. But the movie takes itself too seriously. It's fun seeing Collins, Harper and Torri Higginson ("Stargate: Atlantis") in a new element; it's a shame they didn't really cut loose. CURT WAGNER, REDEYE

ALBUM

Champ Tokyo Police Club

As a fan of these Canadian indie rockers' debut EP, "A Lesson in Crime," I was surprised that their 2008 full-length debut "Elephant Shell" felt so restrained, with only a couple of songs that invited repeated listens. So it's a relief that the far more engaging "Champ" asserts its confidence early and keeps your ear hungry for more tight nuggets of swirling guitars and singer Dave Monks' endearing stories, delivered with a nasal voice that's not as annoying as it could be. MATT PAIS, METROMIX

LOATHE IT

VIDEO GAME Modern Warfare 2: Resurgence Pack

Available
on Xbox Live

We'll give you the bad news first—the second downloadable map pack for "Modern Warfare 2" costs $15, which equals to $3 per map. The good news is that most of the five maps are pretty fantastic. Especially good is Carnival, where you square off in a broken-down Coney Island-like amusement park and the beer can-strewn squalor of Trailer Park. Even the two maps imported from "Call of Duty 4," Strike and Vacant, are worthy additions. RYAN SMITH FOR REDEYE

ALBUM

Bionic Christina Aguilera

The pop goddess

collaborates with a lot of women far hipper than her on "Bionic," including Le Tigre, M.I.A., Peaches, Santigold and Ladytron, in an attempt to broaden her appeal. It's still pretty much your standard dance pop with lyrics that would make first-wave feminists cringe.

SARAH ZUPKO, MCT

ANCHOR BAY FILMS

Douglas is the man

There was a time when fast-talking Ben (Michael Douglas) owned his charisma. Ever since his doctor told him a heart irregularity could be serious, though, Ben has been a slave to his impulses, wrecking his marriage and career in car sales in the process. That continues as Ben sleeps with the teenage daughter (Imogen Poots) of his girlfriend (Mary-Louise Parker) and lies like it's a talent he enjoys nurturing.

The buzz: Depending on how you define living life to the fullest, you'll either think Ben is a smooth operator with impressive notches on his bedpost or a major jackass who doesn't deserve to see his ex Nancy (Susan Sarandon), his daughter (Jenna Fischer) or her young son. Regardless, it's good to see the return of Douglas—given a meatier starring role than 2007's silly "King of California"— and writer/co-director Brian Koppelman ("The Girlfriend Experience"), who's better with icy wit than naked honesty.

The verdict: To say Douglas commands "Solitary Man" is an understatement akin to, say, "The Blackhawks had an OK year." He brilliantly shows how Ben transitioned from a salesman to a cad, while all along being just a sheep in wolf's clothing. The other performances are uniformly terrific, particularly Poots and Jesse Eisenberg as a college student who soaks up Ben's wisdom. Yet the movie, which can be both too warm and too cold, never breaks through Ben's shell. "Solitary Man" should lose the unconvincing late chat between Ben and Nancy and tone down Parker's character, who seems to think she's in a Bret Easton Ellis story.

Sweet summertime

By Lisa Arnett

Weeknights at Michigan Avenue tavern Sweetwater, thirsty worker bees pile in to kick back over rounds of beer. Maybe it's the lack of suit coats slung over chairs, but on weekends, the scene feels more leisurely. We stopped in to see if the recently debuted brunch menu would prove better than the average bar brunch.

Server says: Banana French toast and the hangover helper dish (right, a version of chilaquiles) were offered as personal favorites, though the latter came with a warning: "It's awesome, but it's huge."

We say: Both are delicious, but get them with a friend and share. The gooey, sugary-sweet French toast topped with butter-rum sauce and banana slices ($8.99) would be too cloying on its own, but proved a tasty foil to the spicy, sloppy chilaquiles, a heaping pile of tortilla chips soaked in spicy green tomatillo salsa and topped with red onions, jack cheese and two perfectly fried eggs ($11.99).

Pass on: The beignets ($4.99). We had high hopes for these sugar-dusted squares (made according to the recipe of famed Cafe du Monde in New Orleans, according to the menu) but rather than achieving that perfect balance of crispy outside and fluffy inside, they were just chewy.

Back to basics: The menu's not lacking in classics, from standard eggs Benedict to customizable omelets and platters of eggs, bacon and sausage.

Is it lunch time yet: The full lunch menu is served in addition to brunch dishes, so sandwich fans can opt for the Carolina-style pork sammie, a veggie-stuffed pita pocket or one of seven burgers.

Day drinking: Cocktail snobs might want to skip the bloody mary ($10) and mimosa ($9) bars. Plastic carafes of juices plopped in a tub of ice makes for messy mimosa-making, and while juice choices range from pineapple to strawberry-banana, none is fresh-squeezed. And there's no shame here in using store-bought mix; it's right out on the counter.

WTF moment: No olives at the bloody mary bar? What gives? We were disappointed to find such a staple missing from an otherwise bountiful garnish lineup that includes celery, carrots, pickles, cornichons, salami, cheeses and especially tasty prosciutto-stuffed peppers.

Crowd surfing: We dined among cargo short-clad guy groups watching the game du jour, sun-seeking locals, tourists fresh from Millennium Park and, yes, even child or two.

Celebrate season with asparagus

Chicago Tribune

You think you know asparagus, that harbinger of spring? Did you know that asparagus is a member of the lily family, along with onions and garlic? Did you know that asparagus can grow up to 10 inches in a 24-hour period?

Here are some other factoids you may find surprising about the spring vegetable.

- 1 Asparagus historically was heralded as an aphrodisiac, probably because of its phallic shape.
- 2 Recent research suggests eating asparagus can help ease hangovers and protect liver cells against alcohol's toxins: It boosts levels of key enzymes that break down the alcohol.
- 3 About 40 percent of people experience strong-smelling urine after eating asparagus, a sulfurlike odor that results from the digestion of certain amino acids. Some people are genetically unable to smell the odiferous urine.
- 4 Five ounces of asparagus contain 60 percent of the recommended daily intake of folic acid, which prevents heart disease and birth defects. Other possible benefits include preventing cancer and urinary tract infections and easing arthritic pain.
- 5 White asparagus comes from the same plant as green asparagus, but it is grown underground to block sunlight and prevent photosynthesis, thus inhibiting production of chlorophyll. Purple asparagus is genetically modified, but once you cook it, it turns green.

Lil Jon
GETTY IMAGES

Lil Jon brings the 'Crunk'

Associated Press

NEW YORK About five years ago, Lil Jon had a rocking vision for his next album, "Crunk Rock."

The disc still is called that—but don't expect to hear endless electric guitar riffs over thumping drums. Jon says the new album, out this week, went through many phases. Instead of producing the album himself, he recruited the likes of David Guetta, Stephen Marley, Drumma Boy and Dr. Luke. That added a new sound to the CD—including Euro-flavored dance grooves and what he calls "Bolly-funk."

Lil Wayne's dabbled in rock music, and a while back Nelly mentioned doing a rock album. Why do you think rappers are so interested in the rock genre?

We all grew up on rock music. In the '80s, I remember the radio stations would play everything from rock to rap. And even if you go back to Run-DM.C., they said, "I'm the king of rock" because rock was the hardcore stuff. When you put the guitars on your music it makes it a little bit more harder [and] I think that's part of it. And then we all wanted to be rock stars in the early days. We wanted to be rap stars, but the rock stars had the crazy lifestyle. And for me, it was the energy of rock music. I grew up on punk music, too. I was into the Ramones, Bad Brains, all of that, when I was in high school.

There are more and more music stars doing reality TV. Would you consider doing a show?

I hate reality shows. It's funny because me and my wife be arguing all the time about reality shows 'cause she loves reality shows and watches them all day, all the time. And I be like, "C'mon. No. No." To me, I don't want people in my life like that.

What are her favorite shows?

She's watching "Basketball Wives" right now. And all of "The Real Housewives of" wherever the hell, she's watching all of [that].

If Bravo asked her to join the "The Real Housewives of Atlanta," would you be down?

No. No. Somebody approached her years ago about that and she was entertaining it. And I kind of explained to her, "Once you get on this show, you're not going to be able to go nowhere without people not recognizing you."

And then the most important thing with those shows is the Internet has strong opinions about the characters, and if you can't take criticism or you can't take people talking about you, you really don't want to get on them shows because women are harsh critics on women." ... So she weighed in her own options and she decided not to do it.

Over the 'Hills'

MTV show was a few episodes for Corey
Bohan—BMX is forever

By Ryan Smith

FOR REDEYE

Corey Bohan might be best known for his brief appearances on MTV's "The Hills," but it's hills of dirt that he cares about most.

The laid-back Australian BMX star is aiming to jump, flip and pedal over plenty of them in Chicago this weekend as he joins more than 45 of the sport's best athletes for Red Bull Stomping Ground. The competition is held Saturday at a dirt course built literally from the ground up in an empty industrial lot southeast of Wicker Park. Bohan chatted with RedEye about what life on two wheels is really like.

RYAN SMITH IS A REDEYE SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

You're a successful BMX pro, yet you're still most famous for dating Audrina Patridge from "The Hills" last year. Is that frustrating for you?

Yeah, it's pretty funny, you can do all this stuff like the X-Games, and you can win it, but as soon as you go on some bad reality TV show, you get all this sort of coverage. But it is what it is. It's coverage no matter what. Other people probably would get frustrated, but I see the funny side of it.

How dangerous is the sport?

When you try to explain BMX dirt jumping to the average person, they instantly associate it with young kids and little bikes, that kind of thing. But I think they're surprised once they show up and see the size of these dirt jumps and the kind of tricks we do. They see we're not kids. It's very dangerous, but I guess so are a lot of things in life.

How much have you actually gotten hurt doing BMX?

I hate this question, if I could knock on some wood, I would, but ... I've been pretty lucky throughout my career. I've had tons of stitches because your shins are forever getting ripped up. I've broken my collarbone, sliced my spleen in half—that's probably the worst injury I've had. But other than that, there's just the battling that you do with your body everyday.

What's the hardest trick you've pulled off?

I think when I first learned the front flip, it's really hard to spot your landing because of the rotation, and you don't see the ground until you're right over it. Other than that, things like opposite 360 variations are pretty hard.

Enter a number between 1 and 9 in the empty squares. The clues are the numbers in the white circles that give the sum of the solution numbers: above the line are across clues; below the line are down clues. Thus, a clue of 3 will produce a solution of 2 and 1, and a 5 will produce 4 and 1, or 2 and 3, but, of course, which squares they go in will depend on the solution of a clue in the other direction. No digit can be repeated in a solution. Answer at redeye.chicago.com/puzzles. EDITED BY MICHAEL MEPHAM

'HOUSE' CALL

WILL UNCLE JESSE'S OLD CAST MATES FOLLOW HIM IN HIS RETURN TO TV?

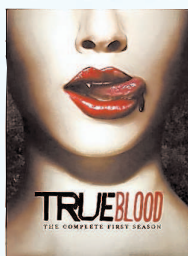

We've always thought John Stamos, he of the magnificent hair and chiseled jaw, was more suited for rapid, teen-focused programming than the serious, gloomy "ER." That's why a rousing round of applause is in order after word came this week that sexy Stamos will be returning to TV as a cast member on "Glee."

OK, so he's set to play a dentist—admittedly not very sexy—but Stamos isn't even on the show yet and he's already embroiled in a love triangle. You'll recall that in this week's "Glee" season finale, guidance counselor Emma told Spanish teacher Will that she was dating a dentist. Enter Stamos.

Since "ER" wrapped up, the former Uncle Jesse has mostly been working on Broadway, and, uh, touring with the Beach Boys, or so he tweets (@johnstamos). Now that he's joined up with the hottest show on TV, Stamos can probably expect a few of his jobless, struggling "Full House" co-stars to try to ride his coattails to stints on other popular shows. Here's where we could see those less-successful actors fitting in. ARIEL ALEXOVICH, REDEYE

MARY-KATE AND ASHLEY OLSEN

1 "True Blood" We know, we know, Michelle Tanner rides no one's coattails. But lately the Olsens have been keeping a mighty quiet profile. Should they be looking to get back in the cozy, welcoming embrace of TV, they'd have their pick of shows. You know what's hot now? Vampires. The Olsens as Bill's vampy, bloodthirsty, profanity-spewing ex-lovers? We'd watch that.

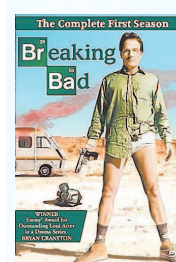

LORI LOUGHLIN

2 "Dancing With the Stars" Poor Loughlin actually has a regular part on the "90210" re-make, but that hasn't brought her back to her Aunt Becky level of popularity. Expect her to make another semi-desperate grab for the spotlight by flaunting her still-hot bod on the dance floor and making out with Derek Hough.

DAVE COULIER

3 "Two and a Half Men" He was the awkward third wheel in the Danny-Jesse-Joe parenting trio, so it'll be no stretch for him to join Charlie Sheen and Jon Cryer in the raising of Cryer's TV son. Never mind that the kid's almost 18—there's always room for a wacky uncle-type who makes terrible impressions, right? Right?

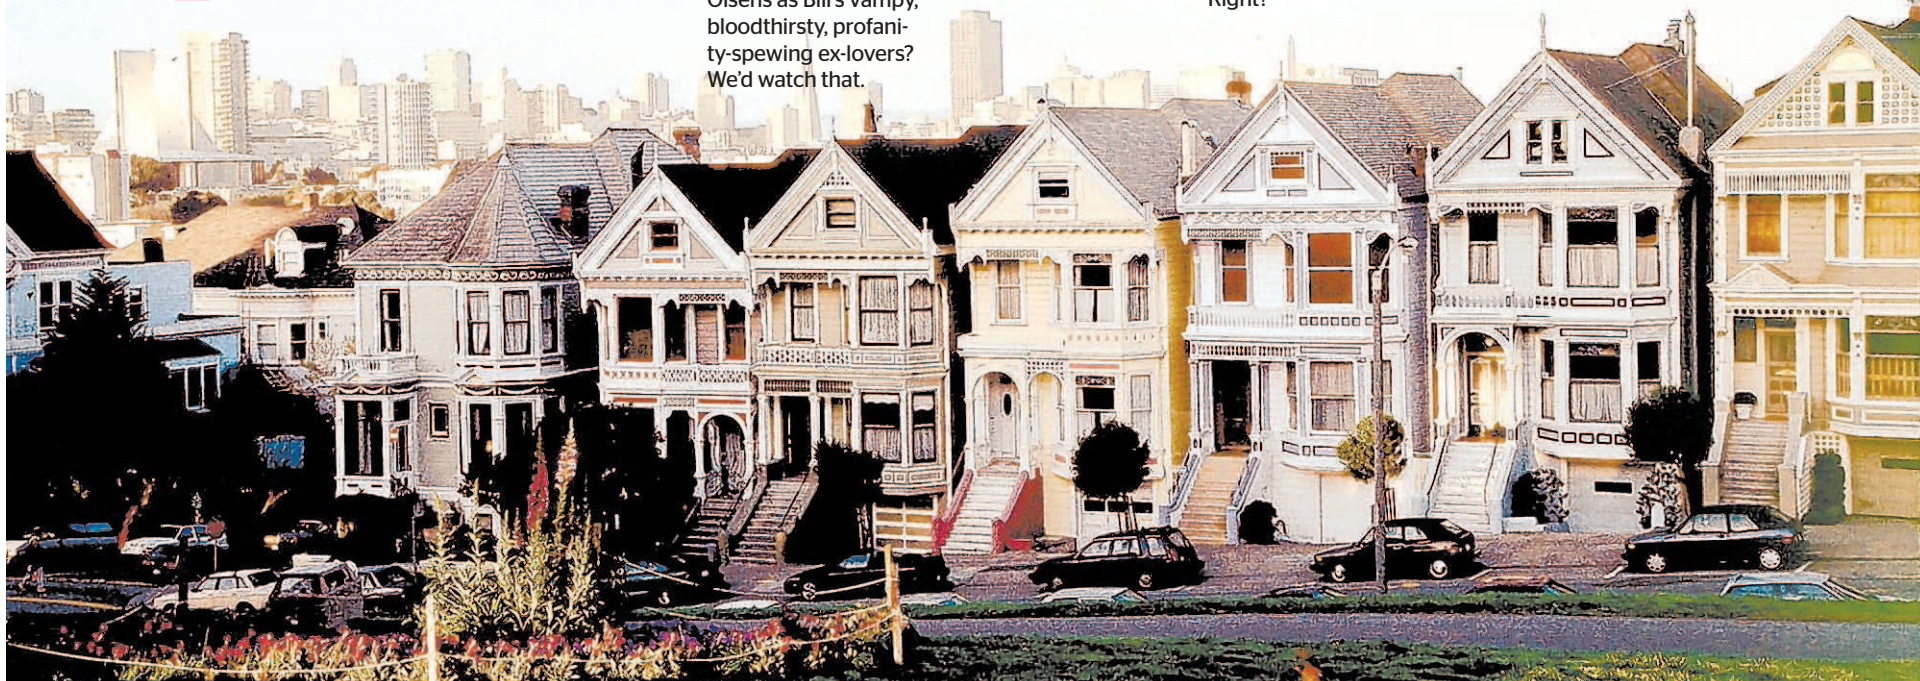

JODIE SWEETIN

4 "Breaking Bad" The show's about a schoolteacher who sells meth on the side. Sweetin's a self-proclaimed recovering meth addict. It seems like a perfect match but, please, Jodie, play a drug counselor or other kind of moral character. We don't want you to be tempted again.

ANDREA BARBER

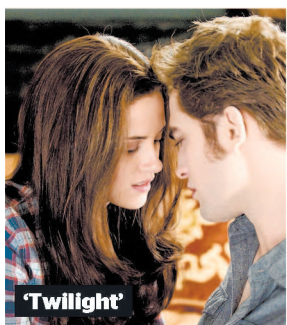

5 "House" Barber, playing herself, falls ill at House's casino. He thinks she's dead, but right when he's about to pull the sheet over her, she springs up, arms outstretched, and proclaims, "I'm not dead!" Here's hoping that'll put all those viral "Kimmy Gibbler is dead" rumors to rest.

Ready for double vampire trouble?

Two is better than one, right? Summit announced Thursday that it will split "Breaking Dawn" into two films, with Bill Condon directing both movies in the "Twilight" saga and shooting them consecutively. There is no release date for the second film (the first will come out in November 2011), the Los Angeles Times reports. The film company did say that in addition to stalwarts Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson and Taylor Lautner, other cast members will return, including Peter Facinelli, Elizabeth Reaser, Jackson Rathbone, Nikki Reed, Ashley Greene and Kellan Lutz.

End is near for 'Transformers'

This is it, "Transformers" fans. The movie franchise will end after the third installment, which is scheduled for release next summer, according to USA Today. "As a trilogy, it really ends," director Michael Bay told the newspaper. "It could be rebooted again, but I think it has a really killer ending."

Pearl Jam's 'Better' daze

Oops! "Better Days," a new song from Pearl Jam, leaked this week when it accidentally was posted on the official site of the band's Monkeywrench Records, according to rollingstone.com. Pearl Jam hasn't commented on the link, but fanboys are in a tizzy of speculation over when the track officially could be released.

R. Kelly: Fly guy

R. Kelly, the man who wrote "I Believe I Can Fly," now knows he can fly.

The Chicago singer, who performed at the opening ceremony of the World Cup in South Africa on Friday, overcame his fear of flying when he traveled to Africa last year for a tour, according to The Associated Press.

"I always said, 'I can't get on the plane, I can't get on the plane,'" he said. "But when I finally did get up the nerve to get on the plane and come on over to Africa, the welcome was so unbelievably warm. It was just so touching that I couldn't believe it."

New games get retro

Marty McFly and some velociraptors are getting new video games in the winter, according to The Associated Press. A game developer is working on games for the "Back to the Future" and "Jurassic Park" trilogies. "The games are going to exist within these worlds," said Dan Connors, CEO at Telltale Games. "I wouldn't call these games sequels per se but a new interpretation of their worlds for a new medium."

Jolie-patra?

Angelina Jolie (right) may be headed for Egypt. The book "Cleopatra, Queen of the Nile: A Life" is in the works to become a movie with Jolie in mind as the heroine, according to USA Today. "Physically, she's the perfect look," said Stacy Schiff, the book's author.
